

Endorsed and supported by the Mackintosh Heritage Group

Visitors to Glasgow in search of Mackintosh's buildings will have little difficulty in finding the School of Art, or even The Hill House at Helensburgh. But where are the tea rooms, the Art Club, the Daily Record building, Ruchill Church hall? And outside Glasgow, where are Auchenibert, Windyhill, or all of the gravestones? This guide will lead you to every one of them, from East Wemyss in Fife through to Argyll in the west, Comrie in Perthshire and Mackintosh's few English commissions in Northampton and London. Each entry includes access details and a commentary by Roger Billcliffe, author of several standard works on Mackintosh, as well as recent or contemporary photographs, full addresses and directions and, for those difficult-to-find commissions, a GPS location.

Roger Billcliffe was formerly a lecturer at Glasgow University, Assistant Keeper of the University Art Collection, and subsequently Keeper of Fine Art at Glasgow Art Gallery and then a Director of The Fine Art Society. He now runs the Roger Billcliffe Gallery in Glasgow. His catalogue raisonné of Mackintosh's furniture was described by the Glasgow Herald as 'the most beguiling and readable piece of design history you could wish to read.'

FRANCES LINCOLN LIMITED
PUBLISHERS

ISBN 978-0-7112-3285-3

www.franceslincoln.com

Front cover: The Glasgow School of Art © Alan McAteer £9.99

Visiting Charles Rennie Mackintosh

Roger Billcliffe

VISITING CHARLES RENNIE
MACKINTOSH

Roger Billcliffe

